Dear employees, customers and suppliers,

In response to the Coronavirus health threat the Governor of Illinois issued Executive Order #8 “to shelter in place until April 7th” for all residents. This order requires all residents to stay home, with the exception of workers in companies that are considered essential for the infrastructure workplace of the United States. Per the governor’s executive order “manufacture, distribution and supply chain for critical products” are deemed to be essential (see section 12t). Forster Products is considered essential infrastructure and will stay open for business.

We are taking precautions to protect the health of employees and all those we come into contact with. We are focusing energy on maximizing well-being in the plant. Additionally, employees are asked to stay home if they, or if anyone in their “shelter in place” home has symptoms of illness. We will continue to evaluate conditions as the situation progresses and support our employees, customers and vendors in any way possible.

At this time our facility will be closed to non-employees. Customers and suppliers, please contact us by phone or email. Delivery drivers, please call or knock at the office door for access in order to make deliveries.

At this time the demand for our tools remains very strong. We will continue to adjust as conditions change. Forster will remain level-headed and steadfast in our commitment to our employees, customers and suppliers.

Thank you and contact us with any questions or thoughts.
